A Tradition of Excellence

A New Opportunity in India

Since 2000, the Bernardi Music Group String Academy Summer Camp has supported and inspired young musicians from around the world. Over the past two decades, students from the programme have progressed to leading institutions including the Royal College of Music, Trinity Laban Conservatoire of Music & Drama, Charterhouse and the Yehudi Menuhin School, with many alumni now working professionally across the international music industry.

The Summer Camp is built on a simple philosophy: exceptional teaching, real performance experience, and a supportive environment where young musicians can grow both artistically and personally.

For the first time, this internationally respected programme is being introduced in India through a special pilot collaboration with the National Conservatoire of Music at Mount Carmel Schools – offering students a rare opportunity to experience world-class music education close to home.

This inaugural edition will welcome a limited cohort of students, creating a focused, high-quality learning environment and a truly exclusive first-generation experience.

A Conservatoire-Style Learning Experience

The Bernardi Music Group Summer Camp is designed to mirror the training environment of leading international conservatoires, while remaining accessible and supportive for developing musicians.

Students receive specialist tuition from some of the UK's most respected string players and educators, carefully matched to individual ability and musical goals.

The programme combines:

- Individual instrumental lessons
- Ensemble and chamber music coaching
- Daily rehearsals and workshops
- Performance prep & interpretation training
- Professional mentoring and feedback

This structured yet inspiring approach allows students to build technical skills, musical confidence, and artistic maturity in a short but intensive period of study.

Learning Through Performance

Performance lies at the heart of the Bernardi Music Group philosophy.

Throughout the programme, students will take part in curated concerts and ensemble projects, gaining valuable experience performing alongside professional musicians and international faculty.

These performances provide more than just stage time – they help students develop:

- Confidence and presence
- Ensemble awareness and leadership
- Professional rehearsal discipline
- Communication through music

By working in real performance settings, students gain insight into what it means to train and work as a professional musician.

An International Opportunity – Launching in India

This programme marks the launch of a new partnership between Bernardi Music Group (UK) and the National Conservatoire of Music at Mount Carmel Schools.

Through this collaboration, students in India gain access to international teaching standards, global artistic perspectives, and a network of professional musicians and educators.

As the first edition of this programme in India, the 2026 intake is intentionally limited in size. This ensures personalised attention, high teaching standards, and a close-knit artistic community – while offering students the rare opportunity to be part of the founding cohort of a landmark initiative.

Participants will become part of a growing international music education network, with future opportunities for overseas training programmes, exchanges, and continued development pathways.

Who Is This Programme For?

The programme is open to motivated young musicians who are eager to develop their skills and broaden their musical horizons.

Student Programme

We welcome students aged 12-20 studying:

- Violin
- Viola
- Cello
- Double Bass
- Piano
- Choir

Applicants should normally have achieved Grade 4 or above (or equivalent level of proficiency).

Advanced Musicians & Young Professionals

Advanced adult musicians (Grade 8+) are also welcome and may benefit from:

- Professional development sessions
- Teaching observation opportunities
- Advanced ensemble & performance work

Selection is based on musical ability, commitment, and readiness to benefit from an intensive international training environment.

A Supportive, Inspiring Learning Environment

The Bernardi Music Group Summer Camp experience extends beyond the rehearsal room.

Hosted in partnership with Mount Carmel Schools, students will study and rehearse in a secure, well-equipped campus environment designed to support both academic focus and creative exploration.

Alongside lessons and rehearsals, students will take part in group activities, ensemble sessions, and community experiences that encourage collaboration, independence, and personal growth.

Whether participating as residential or day students (subject to final programme arrangements), all participants will benefit from a structured daily schedule, dedicated staff support, and a welcoming artistic community.

The result is an environment where young musicians feel challenged, supported, and inspired to achieve their best.

Andrew Bernardi: Violin, Viola & Director

Andrew Bernardi is a leading UK violinist, festival director and music entrepreneur, widely recognised for his work using music as a force for social impact. Named one of ETC Magazine's 100 Inspirational People in Sussex, he regularly collaborates with charities, consulates and international partners to promote the transformative power of performance.

Andrew studied music at Leeds University before completing postgraduate studies at Trinity College of Music, where he led the college orchestras. He has performed with major ensembles including the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and BBC Philharmonic, and founded the Bernardi Music Group in 1991.

In 2000, he established the Shipley Arts Festival, now a flagship cultural event in West Sussex. A long-serving Trinity Laban tutor, many of his former students now hold leading professional roles.

Andrew performs internationally on the 1696 Amici Bernardi Stradivarius violin.

Maria Marchant: Piano

Multi award-winning London-based pianist and conductor Maria Marchant performs regularly at leading venues and festivals in the UK and internationally. Her work has been broadcast on BBC Radio 3, Classic FM, Premier Christian Radio and featured on BBC television programmes including The One Show and Great British Menu. Maria is the recipient of a Digital Classical Music Award for her global online project #7Notesin7Daysat7pm. Recent highlights include performing Chopin's Piano Concerto No.2 with Worthing Symphony Orchestra and appearances with the Stradivarius Piano Trio.

A SOMM Recordings artist, her album Bantock Rediscovered reached No.15 in the Official Classical Chart. Maria is Pianist-in-Residence at Shipley Arts Festival and frequently premieres new works by leading composers.

She studied at Trinity Laban and the Royal College of Music and is also an experienced educator, conductor and ABRSM examiner.

Jonathan Few: Cello

Jonathan Few began playing the cello at the age of six and trained at Chetham's School of Music before continuing his studies at the Royal College of Music with Joan Dickson, where he won several chamber music prizes. He furthered his training internationally at UCLA, the Banff Centre and the Robert Schumann Hochschule in Düsseldorf, studying with Johannes Goritzki.

Since 2004, Jonathan has built a successful freelance career, touring internationally with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra under conductors including Daniele Gatti and Charles Dutoit across Europe, the United States and Asia. He has also held principal roles with the RTÉ National Symphony Orchestra and the Wexford Opera Festival.

An active chamber musician, Jonathan is a founding member of Piano Trio Triptych and has recorded for the British Film Institute. A regular performer at Shipley Arts Festival since 2001, he has also appeared with the Stradivari Trio in recent seasons.

Anando Mukerjee: Tenor & Vocals

Anando Mukerjee, described by The Statesman as "India's finest tenor," is internationally recognised as one of the country's leading operatic voices. After academic studies at Delhi and Cambridge Universities, he trained privately in England and undertook seven years of mentorship with legendary tenor Nicolai Gedda. A Charles Wallace India Trust Award recipient and finalist in major UK vocal competitions, Anando specialises in Italian and French bel canto, romantic and verismo repertoire.

He made his operatic debut as Rodolfo (La bohème) at Belgrade National Opera and has since performed leading roles across the UK and Europe including Carmen, Tosca, La Traviata, Rigoletto and Turandot. In 2024, he made his Wagnerian debut, covering roles at Longborough Festival Opera and performing Erik in Der Fliegende Holländer.

Anando has appeared at Wigmore Hall, Cadogan Hall and the Royal Albert Hall, and is regularly broadcast on BBC Radio.

Academic Pathways & International Qualifications

Structured progression from foundational training to advanced professional preparation

The National Conservatoire of Music Summer Programme offers students access to internationally recognised music education pathways, supporting progression from early development through to advanced conservatoire and university preparation.

Students may prepare for ABRSM or Trinity College London examinations, subject to examiner availability, alongside tailored performance and academic coaching aligned with individual goals.

These pathways provide a clear framework for technical development, musical understanding, and performance standards recognised worldwide.

International Examination Pathways

Grades 1-4 | Foundational Level

Designed to build core technique, musical literacy, and confidence. Students develop essential skills in performance, scales, sight-reading, and musicianship.

Grades 5-8 | Intermediate to Advanced

Focused on technical fluency, stylistic awareness, and performance readiness, supporting progression towards advanced study.

Diploma Level (Post Grade 8)

Professional-level preparation for students pursuing advanced performance or teaching pathways, aligned with undergraduate and postgraduate standards.

Higher Education & Professional Preparation

For students aiming beyond graded examinations, the programme also offers targeted preparation for further study in the UK and internationally. This includes:

- BMus (Undergraduate) audition preparation
- MMus (Postgraduate) audition preparation
- Technical development, repertoire planning, and interpretation
- Mock auditions and detailed performance feedback

Advanced Academic Pathways

Individualised preparation for PhD applications to UK conservatoires and universities is available on a bespoke basis, tailored to the applicant's research and performance focus.
